LINES DOWN

The storm which has been prevailing throughout the northwest for the past three days prostrated the telegraph lines in the southern part of the state hence THE OREGONIAN is compelled to go to press without dispatches However the backbone of the storm being broken our readers may expect the usual quota of news by the next issue of THE OREGONIAN

STATE UNIVERSITY

Annual Report of the President of the Regents

To the Governor of the State of Oregon In compliance with § 13 of the University act I make the following report of the transactions of the regents and the progress and condition of the University for the year ending June 30, 1879

EXPENDITURE OF APPROPRIATION OF OCTOBER 21 1876

This appropriation of $10 000 a year for the years 1877-8 for the completing and furnishing the University building, etc, has been fully expended In the report of the president of the regents for the year 1877-8, it was stated that $12 706 [illegible] had been disbursed up to that time, [illegible] during the past year the remainder of the appropriation plus $10 has been applied to the purchase and care of apparatus, a piano securing a supply of water etc, as per bill of items hereto annexed and marked A will appear in detail. What was said in my last report about the care and responsibility for the expenditure of this fund applies equally well to the portion disbursed during the present year.

RECEIPTS AND EXPENSES.

The receipts and expenses for the year ending June 30, 1879, have been as follows

RECEIPTS.

Interest on University fund		$3 507 50
Balance appropriation of Oct. 18, 1878		1 [illegible] 00
Tuition—
Collegiate department	$1 225 00
Preparatory department	2 6[illegible] 00	3 878 00
Incidental fees		393 00
Balance for 1878 9		70 00
Total receipts		$9 772 50

EXPENSES.

Salaries collegiate department	$5 200 00
Salaries preparatory department	2,000 00
Incidental expenses	1 117 03
	$8 317 03

Of this amount the sum of $465 was not actually received and paid out by the treasurer, because as stated in my last report the secretary has made collections and payments to that amount, by means of exchanges in which there was no money actually handled, as for instance, by charging a teacher or other person with the tuition of his children and crediting him with payment by endorsing the amount as a payment on his warrant for salary or other services. The treasurer's report shows $1000 received from interest on university funds and paid out on June 14 but this being in fact the purchase by Prof Johnson, on June 24, 1878, of property taken from the land commissioners to be credited to the university as interest then due and applied on Prof Johnson's salary account, as stated in my report for the year ending June 30, 1878, is therefore not restated in this report.

RECEIPTS AND EXPENSES.

The receipts and expenses for the year ending June 30, 1878, were as follows

RECEIPTS.

Interest on University fund, coin	$4 180 00
" " " cur	377 00	—$4557 00
Tuition—Col. dep't	1,101 00
Prep. "	2,616 75	—3,716 75
Incidental fees		401 25
		$8 675 00

EXPENSES

Salaries, Col. dep't	$6 800 00
Prep.	2,000 00	—$8 800 00
[illegible]		976 86
		$9 476 86

From this it appears that in 1878 the expenditures exceeded the receipts by the sum of $[illegible] 86, while in 1879 the receipts exceeded the expenditures by $1,455 17, leaving a balance to the credit of the school on these two years of $653 31 But the report for the year ending June 30, 1877 shows a deficit of $[illegible], and the difference between these two latter sums—$382 94—represents the actual deficiency in the revenue of the University on June 30, 1879.

DISBURSEMENTS

The treasurer's report shows that during the year ending June 30 1879, he received $[illegible] 75, and disbursed $9 [illegible] 83 leaving a balance on hand of $815 92. But this statement includes the $1 000 received and paid to Prof Johnson, through the purchase of the [illegible] property from the land commissioners above referred to

UNIVERSITY FUND—CONDITION OF

The condition of the University fund on June 30 1879, as appears from a statement furnished by the treasurer of state, is as follows:

Loaned on [illegible] notes and mortgages		$46 620 99
Cash on hand		2,068 79
		$48 689 78
Interest due July 1 1879	$4 521 13
Cash on hand	84 44	—4,605 57

The balance of the fund realized from the sale of the university lands amounting to upwards of $17,000, as I stated in my last report, is being loaned upon insufficient security or has become invested in non-productive real property, from which it is not likely the principal will soon if ever be realized while the $10 000 interest, due thereon is an absolute loss.

MANAGEMENT OF THE UNIVERSITY FUND

Upon the subject of the future management of this fund I beg leave to repeat the recommendation of my report for last year and hope that the suggestion will meet your approbation and be favorably commended to the next legislative assembly

The amount of interest remaining unpaid, as stated, above, suggests very forcibly the necessity of amending the university act so as to provide that any installment of interest [illegible] shall bear interest until paid, at the same rate as the principal Such a provision would promote the prompt payment of interest, and at least secure compensation for the illegal delay

It is also to be considered whether this fund cannot be placed where it will be better cared for, and the interest more punctually paid than now A board of commissioners—the governor, secretary and treasurer of state—are charged with the investment of the fund by the constitution, (Art 8 § 5), but their powers and duties in this respect shall be such as may be prescribed by law The experience of the past has demonstrated the fact that it is folly to expect this board to attend to this fund as it ought to be done in addition to their other duties for the measure compensation allowed them To expect a treasurer of state to collect the interest promptly on $40 000 distributed over the country in forty different loans in addition to his other duties at the risk of offending the borrower and incurring his opposition at the next election on an annual salary of [illegible] is expecting too much of the average man.

As a practical remedy I suggest that the fund as fast as it is collected be loaned to the state. The state is in debt and always likely to be at least to the amount of the university fund Let the board be authorized to loan the fund to the state as fast as it accumulates and can be used to retire a like amount of outstanding indebtedness.

Since these suggestions were made there has been an entire change in the board but the results so far are not favorable to the present management On July 1 1879 there was almost 4 years interest—$4 521 13—due and uncollected on what is deemed the greatest part of the loan while the salaries of the professors were in arrears [illegible] for the extraordinary aid received from the state

TEACHERS.

During the past year there has been no change in the professors and teachers of the school, except in the employment of Mr John Straub of Portland as tutor in the collegiate and preparatory departments at a salary of $900 a year where he has done much and acceptable service

STUDENTS

The studies commenced on September 16 1878 and closed June 30 1879 During the first term the attendance was as follows First term—Collegiate department Males 54 females, 29 of which 31 attended on free scholarships and 32 paid Preparatory department Males and females 104 with an average of [illegible] the second term—Collegiate department Males 41 females [illegible] of which 14 attended on free [illegible] and [illegible] paid Preparatory department Males [illegible] and females [illegible] with an average of [illegible] Whole number enrolled in [illegible] departments during the year 14[illegible] [illegible] year students attended the collegiate department on free scholarships from the several counties of the state as follows Benton [illegible] Coos 2 Curry 1 Clackamas 3 D[illegible] Jackson 2 Lane [illegible] Linn [illegible] Marion [illegible] Multnomah 9 Polk 3 Wasco 4 Yamhill 4 Total 52

INSTRUCTION AND CLASSES

The character and extent of the work [illegible] ing the year is suggested by the following statement of the classes and studies In the collegiate department during the first term the students were engaged in the classes as follows Greek [illegible] classes containing 24 students latin, [illegible] classes containing [illegible] 3 classes containing [illegible] algebra 1 class of [illegible] geometry 1 of 19 trigonometry and surveying 1 of 10 mechanics 1 of 1[illegible] astronomy 1 of 5 chemistry 1 of 1[illegible] bookkeeping 1 [illegible] 7 physical features 1 of 1[illegible] physiology [illegible] 23 mineralogy 1 of 11 history of civilization, 1 of 6 geology and paleontology 1 of 22 mental philosophy 1 of 6 botany 1 of 19 general history, 1 of 9 political economy 1 of 6

During the second term Greek 3 classes containing 16 students, latin, 5 classes containing 48, German grammar 1 class of 22 algebra 1 of 25 trigonometry 1 of 9 geometry, 1 of 20, mechanics 2 of 1[illegible] astronomy 1 of 5, chemistry, 1 of 18 physical features 1 of 13 16 of whom passed mineralogy 1 of 17, 11 of whom passed physiology 1 of 23 of whom 19 passed history of civilization 1 of [illegible] all passed general history 1 of 21 of whom 4 passed geology 1 of 22 all passed botany 1 of 1[illegible] of whom 12 passed mental philosophy 1 of 6 of whom [illegible] passed political economy 1 of 7 all passed zoology, 1 of 21 of whom 16 passed international law 1 of 6 all passed constitution of the U S 1 of 5 all passed

In the preparatory department—first term Higher arithmetic, 2 classes containing 1[illegible] students practical and mental arithmetic [illegible] 8 classes, containing 97, elocution 2 classes containing 64 history 1 of 20 grammar 3 classes, containing 64 dictionary 2 classes containing 64 geography 3 classes, containing 48, reading, 3 classes containing 40 spelling 2 classes containing 40 writing 3 classes, containing 75, calisthenics, 1 class of 114

During the second term Greek 1 class of 8, Latin reader, 1 of 20, Latin grammar 1 of 17 elementary algebra 1 of 33 higher arithmetic 1 of 35 elocution 2 of 53 dictation 1 of 53 composition 1 of 25 history 1 of 25 practical and mental arithmetic, 5 classes containing 75 geography, 3 containing 87 language lessons 1 of 20 spelling 2 of 39 reading 3 of 39

CONDUCT OF THE SCHOOL

The report of President Johnson for the second term of the year states "The conduct of the students in both departments is all that could be desired No case of discipline worth naming has occurred during the term and but one during the year"

THE GRADUATING CLASS AND EXERCISES

A class of three males and three females was graduated—one of each as A B and the remainder as B S

The essays and orations of the class were excellent and reflected great credit upon the graduates and the school

The address to the class upon the occasion together with a catalogue for the year, have been printed in pamphlet form by order of the regents, copies of which are herewith submitted, as also a copy of the diploma prepared for the use of the school which was omitted from my last report by mistake

MISCELLANEOUS

The by-laws have been amended so as hereafter to require students in the collegiate department to pay an incidental fee of $5 a term instead of $2½, as heretofore. A by-law—No 12—has been added providing for the expulsion of students who vote at elections in Eugene contrary to section 4 of Art 2 of the constitution of the state which declares that "for the purpose of voting no person shall be deemed to have gained or lost a residence by reason of his presence or absence while a student of any seminary of learning"

The regents have chosen Mr Thomas M Gatch late president of the Wallamet University professor of English history and belles lettres and Mr George H Collier, late professor in the same school, professor of chemistry and physics in the university—their appointments to commence with the year 1879 80

It is hoped and expected that the addition of this force and these well known names to the faculty will so increase the revenues of the school arising from tuition as to defray in a considerable part the additional expense thereby incurred

Miss Elizabeth Boise who has had charge of the second room in the preparatory department for the past two years has resigned her position as teacher and the regents upon the recommendation of the faculty have abolished the room

While in the school, Miss Boise has given general satisfaction as a teacher and her resignation is the result of her desire to change her position or employment

All of which is respectfully submitted

MATTHEW P DEADY,
President of the Regents

PREPARING SOIL FOR STRAWBERRIES.

In the garden light soils can be given a much more stable and productive character by covering them with clay to the depth of one or two inches every fall The winter's frost and rains mix the two diverse soils to their mutual benefit Carting sand on clay is rarely remunerative the reverse is decidedly so, and top-dressings of clay on light land are often more beneficial than equal amounts of manure

As practically employed I regard quick stimulating manures like guano very injurious to light soils I believe them to be the curse of the south They are used to make a crop as it is termed and they do make it for a few years but to the utter impoverishment of the land

And yet by the aid of these stimulating commercial fertilizers the poorest and thinnest soil can be made to produce fine strawberries, if sufficient moisture can be maintained Just as a physician can rally an exhausted man to a condition in which he can take and be strengthened by food so land too poor and light to sprout a pea, can be stimulated into producing a meager green crop of some kind which plowed under will enable the land to produce a second and heavier burden This in turn placed in the soil will begin to give a suggestion of fertility Thus poor or exhausted soil can be made by several years of skillful management, to convalesce slowly into strength

Coarse gravelly soils are usually even worse If we must grow our strawberries on them give the same general treatment that I have just suggested

On some peat soils the strawberry thrives abundantly on others it is an utter failure With such a soil I should experiment with bone dust ashes, etc until I found just what was lacking

No written directions can take the place of common sense judgment and above all experience So is very little to live that character I have yet to learn of a system of rules that will teach us how to deal with every man we meet It is ever [illegible] how [illegible] and liberally He that expects much from [illegible] [illegible]

FREE SCHOOLS

[illegible] Or [illegible] 1879

To the Editor of The Oregonian

For some time past I have been a reader of your excellent paper and am [illegible] the articles that have particularly attracted my attention are those in which free trade vs protection has been discussed Those who study or even casually [illegible] the [illegible] of the times cannot fail to see a gradual awakening of the American people to the fact that we are pursuing a mistaken policy in [illegible] persistently adhering to tariff and I we believe the day is not far distant when our people will fully realize that a [illegible] would [illegible] this so called protection doctrine [illegible] is wrong both in theory and practice But without entering into a discussion of the tariff question which has already been argued pro and con I should like to [illegible] a few remarks upon [illegible] free education, or in other words education by government hoping thereby to hear through the columns of your paper the opinion of others better able to discuss this question than myself This is a matter that concerns us all as citizens We are constantly in receipt of complaints concerning high taxes We are supporting free schools all over the land The property owner is taxed to the utmost that the children of those who own no property may be educated The children of the thriftless and improvident are educated at expense of the industrious and self denying, thus discouraging the industrious and economical and placing a reward as it were upon thoughtlessness and extravagance Surely the youth of the present sees but little encouragement for postponing the nuptial feast until he has procured property sufficient to maintain a family while those who have scarcely a dollar and are rushing headlong into matrimony without a thought for the future succeed quite as well as he under our system of education by state which drags the provident to the level of the improvident Would it not be the means of making this important step (matrimony) seem far more important would not the young man feel a greater responsibility resting upon him in entering this state and a consequent falling off of premature marriages result if he were daily taught by example that he alone is responsible for the educating of his offspring and not that they will be educated though he be destitute at the expense of some one else? This is virtually the doctrine of the socialist or communist Those ranting orators and striking workmen who with incendiary threats are demanding government to assume control of our railroads and manufactories to regulate wages and provide the idle with employment are but carrying out the doctrine upon which education by the government is built and yet we hear it asserted by intelligent men that communistic principles are not advanced in our land He is culpably blind who fails to observe it We see it not only in examples given by striking workmen, in the destruction of property and incendiary speeches but it manifests itself in almost every class of society

The foundation of every just government is to give protection not aid to its subjects The government that will give aid does so at the cost of the energy vitality and independence of its subjects By giving aid it teaches them that they need not depend individually upon their own efforts, but that society will furnish them the means of an education and if an education, why not also clothe and feed them? If government sees fit to rob the parent of one of the first duties he owes his child why not also assume the responsibility of parent in other duties? Physical development is certainly just as necessary to good citizenship as mental development, for if he is lacking in bodily development he will not be able to maintain himself in a legitimate manner and will be led to deeds of violence and crime besides good bodily development is necessary to good mental development Is there not an inconsistency here? Then if we carry this doctrine to its conclusion we deprive the parent of all responsibility and as we lessen parental responsibility so do we lessen self-control Yet no one will contend that self control is unimportant Thus it seems, there are higher grounds for serious objections to state education than mere increase of taxes exorbitant expenditures in buildings, salaries etc But says one "you would deprive the poor children of an education" To all that are so near sighted I would simply say, that better one man go hungry than starve a thousand

I am well aware Mr Editor that popular opinion is strongly in favor of free education We hear it proclaimed from the pulpit The leading papers of the land advocate this doctrine Our orators and statesmen vie with each other in their praises of this perfect system and loudly proclaim that government should of right grant to each and every child in the land a gratuitous education and if one dares to raise a dissenting voice it is lost in the popular clamor and confusion However this is not so much the case to day as in the past We are a progressive people and as we progress we have and are fast throwing aside our orthodox opinions replacing them with more liberal views Orthodoxy is fast falling into the background The minister that persists solely in advancing orthodox views soon finds that empty benches constitutes the bulk of his congregation So, if we be permitted to use the term in this connection we may be too orthodox in our educational views At any rate the better way to clear up and arrive at the truth is by discussion and exchange of opinions

The time is [illegible] it will no longer do to call people ignorant simply because they object to a system of education that entails high taxes and increased expenditures, and which they claim does not increase the intelligence of the people nor lessen crime but tends to make the people dependent creatures, looking to society for aid and not teaching as it should to depend each man upon his own efforts that each individual shall reap the reward of right doing and that he must suffer the inevitable penalties of wrong doing

Long prior to the return of Grant from his tour around the world, the question of his re election had been agitated Yet all awaited his return home to hear from him whether a renomination would be acceptable But he has developed a faculty of accepting all public demonstrations without informing the people whether he would accept the nomination till his silence must be construed as equivalent to an acceptance Under these impressions I believe it to be the duty of those desiring the perpetuation of the republican party to give expression to their protests so that which perchance might prove a public calamity can be thwarted

Alaska [illegible] is a winter resort A correspondent of the Springfield (Mass) [illegible] writes from Sitka Alaska territory to correct [illegible] regarding the weather [illegible] climate

Friends at home in Missouri [illegible] picture us hibernating [illegible] and subsisting upon blubber are wasting their sympathy [illegible] comfortable and contented [illegible] I am told that an army officer who was ordered up here a few years ago [illegible] himself and family expecting to find [illegible] extremely cold [illegible] he was in the vicinity of [illegible] The winters in this section are not so long or so cold as they are in Massachusetts Last January a steamer [illegible] There is seldom any snow or ice here [illegible] and it rarely happens that the thermometer goes lower than 10 degrees above zero during the whole winter

THE CITY'S SEWERS

To the Editor of the Oregonian

Recently the city press has had considerable to say about the defective sewers and insufficiency of drainage that reflects great discredit upon the few small sewers which have been laid in the city The inference from the recent comments of the press is that those sewers which have been laid by the city are total failures [illegible] the truth is these sewers have done everything that was expected of them I may except from the last statement the sewer in C street from Second to the river which I understand was found to be clogged up after the summer flood subsided last July and through somebody's inexcusable neglect it was not repaired nor cleaned during low water However I don't know but what it is doing its duty People who so quickly condemn the terra cotta pipe sewers laid by the city must remember that they were calculated to carry the rain water and sewage from a district 200 feet wide and extending as far as their own length Thus the pipe sewer in Alder street was expected to drain the city from the west side of Fifth street to the river and for a distance of 130 feet on each side of it or half way to the adjacent streets. In other words it was intended to carry off the water and sewage from one tier of blocks as far as it extended The branches and catch basins, for conducting the surface water and sewage into this sewer were intended to accommodate only so much territory—one block wide along the length of the sewer

But what duty has been asked of this small sewer—what has been "flooded" into it? the draining of a tier of blocks from the river to the end of the sewer at Fifth street and away beyond Twelfth street Nor is this all There is no sewer in Morrison street west of First so that Morrison street's tier of blocks is drained into Alder street thus quadrupling the work calculated to be done by the Alder street sewer

But this is not all For although the Yamhill street tier of blocks is expected to be relieved of their surface and house drainage by the Yamhill street sewer there is no sewer south of Yamhill street till we come to Columbia street six tiers of blocks beyond The result is that when a hard rain comes nearly all of the surface water of these six tiers of blocks flows down to Yamhill street and with that tier making the water from seven tiers tries to get into the Yamhill street sewer—calculated to drain one tier—and finding the catch basins full, rushes on over two tiers of blocks to Alder street, where it makes another vain effort to get into the sewer Thus the greater portion of water from eight tiers of blocks is carried to the Alder street sewer which is only intended to drain one tier Nor is this all The Columbia street sewer is as much imposed upon as the Alder street sewer for there is no other pipe sewer from Columbia street to Caruthers land claim, about seven blocks distant So that it has about seven times as much to do as it was calculated and intended to do, and the consequence is that most of the water flooding it in heavy rains passes on down street and a great deal of it floods into Alder street and other streets below it

To day a gentleman asked me while talking on this subject if such sewers would carry off the rain of a day such as yesterday, when three inches of water fell in twenty four hours I told him "Yes, certainly—as far as they were intended to do" The sewer in Alder street is fifteen inches in diameter at First street and is expected to drain, according to the above statements about five blocks, equal to about seven acres Now I find that Mr Trautwine's hand book of engineering—excellent authority on all subjects—says that such a drain pipe will accommodate such a district carrying off the city and house sewage and a rainfall of two inches per hour or eight times as much as the amount stated in the question

Mr Editor I have written thus much not to exonerate any person but to do justice to these little sewers I want more of them I am not a contractor nor a dealer in sewer material but a good citizen, a property-owner or tax payer assessment payer and voter and one of the thousands who cannot afford to hire cabs or ride in street cars I want the rain water of this city put below the sidewalks and crosswalks, and it will go there just as soon as enough sewers are laid to carry it off So please don't intimate that the sewers are inefficient because that is an obstacle in the way of getting more sewers Say that a district from about Columbia street to Lincoln street and from Twelfth street to the river should be established as a sewer district for constructing a sewer that would drain the southern part of the city proper, and carry away the volumes of water coming down from Robinson's hill Lay such a proposition before the people and press the need of it upon the city fathers Such a procedure might do some good because such a sewer would be a blessing to the city, and it would not cost very much either According to the way property is usually assessed such a district would contain about one million dollars worth of taxable property and a two mill tax on this amount would build enough sewers to take away all the surface water from that district The cost would be $2 on the $100 of valuation of lot, or about an average of twelve dollars per lot I have talked with some of the city council on this subject and I think they would inaugurate such a movement if the tone of the city press betokened that it was generally endorsed by tax payers

I have not said anything in relation to the northern part of the city, because I understand that the city has ordered plans to be made for sewers in that locality, but as that is a separate district which must bear the whole expense of the sewer, it has no relation to and need not stop consideration of such a project for the southern part of the city

One cause of defeat of such a project is that as soon as it is proposed several plans are presented, and finally none of them are adopted Any thing is better than nothing and if a brick or terra cotta sewer cannot be agreed on put in a wooden one If that is too expensive put in a flume, leave it open and have bridges across it A flume would be an immense improvement A ditch would be better than nothing Something to collect and confine the water till it gets to the river The people could afford to dedicate part of one street to a flume or ditch in order to have streets that don't become river beds in the winter So don't condemn the pipe sewers but demand more of them

Such are my ideas and the conclusion from them If they are erroneous you or any other gentleman, is invited to point out the errors Now is the time because next summer when all the very wealthy people have gone off to bathe in the coldest water they will find you cannot make others believe that it is a very disagreeable to have the streets flooded in winter

WHY NOT?

Now that Senator Ben Hill is in his seat again he will show the country that Mr Gordon did not speak for Hill's half of Georgia when he promised a quiet session Hill may exclaim in the language of Patrick Henry Gentlemen may cry Peace peace but there is no peace

WHEN THE MIND AND BODY are out of sorts with [illegible] yellowness in the skin [illegible] headache and [illegible] be sure you are in for a Bilious Attack [illegible] Dr [illegible] Liver [illegible] will bring the liver to a healthy condition [illegible]

THURSDAY MORNING, JAN. 8, 1880

TILDEN AND HIS STILL HUNT.

The Philadelphia Record, a democratic paper, is disgusted with the attempt which is still being made in many parts of the country to keep up a Tilden boom. It says it is rumored and generally believed that Tilden's paid emissaries in a great many states are arranging to buy up delegates to the next national convention. The changing tones of some of the western papers give countenance to this claim, but it is noticeable that the press of the south has not been influenced to any great extent, as an examination of the most prominent journals shows. It is a matter of political history that Tilden's nomination by the St. Louis convention was paid for with so much cash. The paymaster was John Morrissey, who settled with claimants there and at New York. This little transaction is said to have cost Mr. Tilden $250,000; but, as he is understood to have made more than enough in a single railroad-wrecking scheme since that time to make good the entire money loss of his presidential campaign, he will, of course, be ready to roll his bar'l into the next national convention if opportunity offers.

If the democrats propose to put up the presidency to the highest bidder it may as well be done now as ever, and thus do away with any possible repetition of the cipher dispatches business. Probably if the nomination were to be opened to competition of this kind such men as Vanderbilt, Gould, Keene, Sharon, Belmont, Mackey, or any one of a dozen others of great wealth, would object to allowing the Great Defrauded a walk-over. The time and place of the meeting, and the terms of sale, had better be advertised so as to insure a full attendance of bidders. If the same class of delegates is sent to the next convention as attended the last one it is probable that those so inclined would realize more from a mere auction than from Mr. Tilden's still hunt.

So quiet and evasive has been the method of Tilden that his very name has become a synonym of evasion and slyness. His fox-like movements have been like the ways of providence—inscrutible and past finding out. His slippery ways have always served, in the hour of need and shuffled guilt and implication in political trickery on other shoulders. Outline of his work is seen in the mysteries of the noted cipher dispatches. A move in democratic politics in the south betrays his methods. The election of speaker of the house of representatives is attributable to his wonderful genius. Everything that savors of power behind the throne savors of the effervescing of the plethoric bar'l. But it is so no longer. He has spoken in unmistakable terms. The bottled up, reticent wisdom of a life time has burst forth in words that cannot be misinterpreted. Hear him as he speaks the unhesitating words to a New York Sun reporter: "It is the duty of every sincere lover of republican institutions to oppose the re-election of Grant. For my part I will do everything I can to secure the election of the man who may be agreed upon by the opponents of the third-term conspiracy as the best candidate to unite the conservative elements of all parties. If a third term can be conferred upon Grant a fourth and fifth will be. In short, Grant's installment in the White House in 1881 means empire!" Such language is calculated to make the people believe that perhaps Tilden is not such an uncompromising Tilden man after all. Perhaps he can, in this time of turmoil, cause the bar'l to flow in a patriot cause other than his own. However, persons best acquainted with the slippery sage of cipher alley see in this only a private scheme that Mr. Tilden expects to rebound on him and bounce him into the white house. Let Uncle Sammy be quiet, the country has determined to retire cipher alley politics.

THE MEANEST STEAL.

That the animus which influenced Gov. Garcelon and his council in their attempt to steal the state of Maine may be completely shown, it is only necessary to state that in the case of the representative from the district embracing the towns of Exeter and Garland, the votes of the two towns as returned were as follows:

EXETER.		GARLAND.
F. W. Hill	220	Geo. S. Hill	212
G. S. Hill	146	Francis W. Hill	131

"It will be seen," says the Bangor Whig, "that in the combined votes of the two towns the republican candidate had 358, against 351 for the fusion candidate, or seven republican majority. It will also be seen that the names of the candidates in the Exeter return were given only by their initials. The return was made out by George S. Hill, who is the town clerk, and it was signed by Francis W. Hill who was the first selectman, so that the responsibility of the inadvertence of omitting the full names was equally shared by the two candidates. But Francis W. Hill, who was defeated, and who felt sour over having the Corinna band over at Exeter to celebrate a victory that he didn't win, was determined to have his brother's seat, and the fusion governor and council were ready to aid him. The governor and council first declare the law of 1877 unconstitutional, so that they cannot correct the omission of the full names; then they declare that the returns show four separate names voted for, and that of these four F. W. Hill, having 220, appears to be elected! So he is to be given the certificate. But it will be noticed that in reaching this conclusion the governor and council, in effect, declare that Francis W. Hill is not elected, and, as there can be no mistake as to the identity of that person, the question might well be asked, who is to receive and hold the certificate issued to F. W. Hill, who is treated as another person than Francis W. Hill? The most dishonest feature of this whole transaction, moreover, is the fact that the governor and council who have assumed the right to go behind the returns in various cases where it pleased them, refuse to consider that, in the Exeter election, there was no possible doubt as to who were voted for, as the omission of full names was only in the return, the ballots cast all having the full names of the candidates. If anybody can invent a meaner steal than that proposed in the Exeter-Garland class, he must have a genius for larceny."

Charles Stewart Parnell, the Irish agitator, has arrived in this country. He has been on American soil since the 4th inst. Mr. Parnell's missions to this country are various and manifold, but his avowed object is to collect money to further the plans of the land league of Ireland and inaugurate them in that distressed island. What these plans are, is not entirely clear to the average reader, but they are believed to be a change in the tenure of real property, and to make the cultivators the owners of the soil. Mr. Parnell was handsomely received at New York where a series of resolutions were adopted extending confidence to Mr. Parnell and his companion, Mr. Dillon, expressing sympathy for the cause and appealing for financial assistance. The aid called for is not intended for the relief of Ireland, but for the land league in their campaign against English landlords. Mr. Parnell will visit the principal cities of the east and doubtless receive a rousing reception wherever he goes. The sober minded will, however, inquire whether it is truly charitable at the present time to prolong the agitation sought to be continued. That Ireland has her wrongs there can be no doubt, but the true benefactor would benefit the distressed people more by subscribing to an emigration fund and bring her sons to this country than by in any way aiding the agitation.

We give place this morning to a communication on the subject of free schools, more from the disposition we have to allow a hearing upon all sides of a question of public interest than because of any real force which we see Mr. Smith's arguments have. While our school laws are imperfect in some respects, the entire abolition of the system is desired by very few people and would be strenuously opposed by nearly all. That free schools and early and premature marriages have the relation, one to the other, that our correspondent suggests, we doubt, as educated young men and women do not oftener form matrimonial alliances at too tender an age than the uneducated. This is one of the evils which can be attributed to the free school system only in a very slight degree.

The advance in ironware of every kind within the past three months is a constant source of wonder, even to the best informed men in the trade. Fortunes have been made even by the stocks on hand. For railroad iron the demand is especially great. The example of the United States, with its 80,000 miles of railroad, two-thirds as much as the rest of the world combined can show, has had the effect of stimulating railroad growth and energizing even the worn out and hitherto sleepy millions of Asia. We are on the eve of a railroad boom unparalleled in the history of the world, on the eve of an era of prosperity that will rival that which closed with the disastrous year of 1873.

"The "spelling reform" has struck the Toledo Blade, and it now announces that words ending in "gogue" (as demagogue, catalogue, etc.) will be spelled without the "ue" when "o" is short, but that when it is long, the "ue" will be retained. It also says that from certain words ending in "ette" (as cigarette, etiquette, parquette) the final "te" will be consistent. If the Blade desires to economize letters by adopting the phonetic style, it should spell these words as follows: "Sigaret, etiket, parket or parka, coket," etc.

Senator Jones, of Louisiana, laying his hand upon his heart, affirms that "there is no bad treatment of the negroes in Louisiana or other southern states." Now, the country will be deeply interested in knowing what Mr. Jones considers "bad treatment of the negro." Why is it that these contented and happy people in Louisiana and Mississippi have been leaving those states to find homes in the more rigorous climate of the northern states? This is a matter that needs explanation.

John R. McBride has been in Washington some time endeavoring to prevent the re-appointment of Judge Emery as Governor of Utah territory. We do not learn that Mr. McBride is seeking the office for himself, but if he is, his fitness for the position could not be questioned. He has long resided in the territory, is familiar with the wants and interests of the people, and is uncompromisingly opposed to the "twin relic."

The national board of health is out with a long list of recommendations as to what shall be done to drive the yellow fever from Memphis, but seems to have neglected the simple and comparatively inexpensive scheme of sending Eli Perkins there to deliver a series of lectures.

DR. SPINNEY,
No. 11 Kearny Street.
Treats all Chronic and Special Diseases.
YOUNG MEN

WHO MAY BE SUFFERING FROM THE EFfects of youthful follies or indiscretion, will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. DR. SPINNEY will guarantee to forfeit $500 for every case of Seminal Weakness or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

MIDDLE AGED MEN.

There are many at the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin milkish hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

Office Hours—10 to 4 and 6 to 8. Sundays from 10 to 11 A. M. Consultation free. Thorough examination and advice, $5. Call or address DR. SPINNEY & CO., No. 11 Kearny street, San Francisco. j8d1f

NEW TO-DAY.

ADGATE'S PATENT
Glass Ball Insulating Casters,
FOR
BEDSTEADS, PIANOS, ORGANS AND FURNITURE
Of All descriptions, surpass anything for Beauty, Durability and General Utility ever introduced. They not only improve the appearance of furniture, but possess many decided advantages over the old style swivel-casters. The Glass Ball is only some in contact with the floor; hence they will not cut, soil or injure the carpet, and will easily move in any desired direction.
They add materially to the Sweetness and Volume of Tone of Pianos and Organs
On which they are used. This statement we are prepared to substantiate by reliable testimonials.
Our New Stock is now on exhibition at McKercher & Thompson's Book Store, 105 First street, Portland, Oregon.

THURSDAY MORNING JAN 8 [illegible]

CITY.

DEATH OF G. M. PEARNE.—George Maret Pearne adopted son of Rev. Thos H. Pearne formerly of Oregon but now of Ohio died of consumption at the residence of M. M. Owen East Portland yesterday morning. He was twenty eight years and a few days [illegible] he was thousands of miles from [illegible] relative in his last hours he found kind friends who did all that could be done to smooth his passage through the dark valley. His remains will be taken to the cemetery near Needy, Clackamas county, for interment.

A NARROW ESCAPE.—As the steamboat [illegible] was landing at St Helens on Tuesday Mr. F. Farnsworth put out from shore with a scow loaded with apples intending to transfer them to the steamboat. His craft was caught by the current which is now very strong in the Columbia and being carried under the wheel was wrecked and its cargo thrown out. Mr Farnsworth fortunately escaped, and the greater part of his scattered cargo recovered but the scow was seriously damaged.

I O O F INSTALLATION.—The following officers of Samaritan Lodge No. 2 I O O F, were installed last night. J. B. Kellogg N. G., J. Honeyman V. G., H. S. Allen secretary, C. R. Hofman treasurer, Martin [illegible] conductor, A. Smith warden, James [illegible] I. G., Geo. B. Henry O. G., W. S. [illegible]bury, R. S. N. G., W. W. Baser L. S. [illegible] Morgan, R. S. V. G., Geo. Haun L. S. [illegible] Shoener R. S. S., Levi Wing L. S. S. [illegible] M. Elliott, P. G. M.

DELICATE OPERATION.—Several weeks ago a man named Hall, engaged in blasting at the [illegible] at the Cascades suffered severe injuries about the head by which it has been feared that he would lose both of his eyes. Yesterday afternoon Drs. H. E. and Wm. Jones removed one of his eyes and it is thought that the other may be saved. He is now at St. Vincent's Hospital and is receiving the most careful attention from the good Sisters of that institution.

CITY OFFICERS OF ASTORIA.—Mayor D. C. [illegible], of Astoria has appointed the following city officers who were confirmed at the last meeting of the council: W. E. Dement treasurer; E. C. Holden assessor; R. H. [illegible], auditor; C. W. Fulton attorney; [illegible] Logan, street superintendent; A. D. [illegible], harbor master; S. D. Raymond surveyor; Peter Runey, police judge; W. J. [illegible], chief of police.

TO BE HANGED.—According to the sentence of Judge Bellinger Wang Fook, the murderer of [illegible] Qui, will expiate his crime on the gallows on Tuesday, 20th inst. The execution will take place between the hours of 10 and 2 P. M. No motion for a new trial has been made and no appeal taken, so that there seems to be no other alternative but for Wang Fook to swing.

OUT OF ORDER STILL.—The big bell is still in a demoralized condition and continues to ring at random strokes at irregular intervals. [illegible] and Mr. Lundberg have been [illegible] a thorough overhauling for [illegible] of determining if possible the [illegible] trouble. As yet they have not [illegible] ascertain the locality and nature [illegible] difficulty.

WEEK OF PRAYER.—The attendance at the meetings in the hall of the Y. M. C. A. is steadily on the increase. The [illegible] to day will be held by Rev. A. L. [illegible] D. D. Subject of the meeting, "[illegible] for Christian education, for the [illegible] for institutions of learning, for Sabbath schools, and for Christian associations."

[illegible] BROKEN.—Tuesday evening as the steamers City of Salem and Ohio were coming [illegible] Oswego, the heavy wind caught [illegible] carried them into a boom of logs [illegible] to Mr. Spencer. The boom was [illegible] and the logs set adrift to the amount [illegible] a million feet.

[illegible] OF THE O. S. N. CO.—At a meeting of the directors of the O. S. N. Co., held yesterday, the following officers were elected: [illegible], H. Villard; vice president, J. N. [illegible]; general superintendent, Geo. J. Ains[illegible]; secretary, Geo. H. Andrews; treasurer, Theo. Wygant.

HIGH WATER IN WASHINGTON COUNTY.—[illegible] just in from Hillsboro reports [illegible] information has been received there from [illegible] portions of the county that many [illegible] were in danger of being carried away [illegible] present high water. At last reports [illegible] were still rising.

[illegible] RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—A report [illegible] circulation last night that the south [illegible] train on the Northern Pacific railroad [illegible] ditched a few miles north of Ka[illegible], but that no one was hurt. The rumor, [illegible] could not be traced to any reliable [illegible].

BISHOP MORRIS' APPOINTMENTS.—The following are the appointments of Bishop Morris [illegible] of the city: Sunday, Jan 11th, [illegible]; Sunday, 18th Oregon City; Sunday, [illegible] McMinnville; Sunday Feb. 8th, [illegible]; Sunday, Feb. 29th, Port Town[illegible].

CITY DIRECTORY.—The Portland City Directory, which will soon be issued will contain [illegible] 1000 more names than the directory [illegible] year. The forthcoming work will [illegible], in other respects to preceding [illegible] of the same publication.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH TO NIGHT.—The [illegible] will meet candidates for church [illegible] in the ladies' parlor at 6 45, [illegible] prayer meeting at 7 30; business [illegible] of the Congregational Society at 8 30 [illegible] cordially invited.

[illegible].—Sixty-one inmates are provided [illegible] St. Vincent's Hospital. Seven persons [illegible] admitted to that institution on Tuesday.

PRISONERS.—At present there are 28 prisoners confined in the county jail. Four of [illegible] are United States prisoners.

GRAND OPENING.

The Pine street coffee house opened its elegant [illegible] rooms last night and from six [illegible] until twelve they were crowded with [illegible] and new visitors. The rich furniture, [illegible] table ware, all bearing the neat monogram "P. S. C. H.", the elegant carpets, [illegible], upright piano, and toilet room [illegible] ladies' department, the beautiful [illegible], and the delicacy of the viands [illegible] were the subjects of most favorable [illegible]. DOWN TRODDEN INNOCENCE.

A New Scheme to Oppress a High Minded but Unfortunate and Much Abused Class

Several weeks ago we published an account of a diabolical device against the leisure of a large class already deprived of liberty and consequently of opportunity for pursuing happiness [illegible] by two thirds [illegible] of [illegible] an rights and making the remaining third unsatisfactory and profitless. This iniquitous scheme was no less an outrage than upsetting nature's rule and robbing a class of highly honorable and [illegible] for [illegible] being of that rest from [illegible] work suggested by the happy economy of nature. The chief of police that persecutor of [illegible] offending innocence that [illegible] on of [illegible] and wrong purchased several [illegible] in pervious to [illegible] and [illegible] the inmates of his [illegible] of refuge [illegible] this armor [illegible] them [illegible] under the [illegible] of [illegible] marshal [illegible] to [illegible] work upon the street. The delicate gentlemen in his charge to whom labor was at any time a harlish rebel [illegible] as [illegible] Their bodies naturally delicate as aforesaid had become refined by [illegible] comforts at the expense of the people during boisterous weather and suffered [illegible] bone chills from this unaccustomed and unseasonable exposure. Physical suffering was however but a small share of the misfortunes of the victims of this ruthless outrage. The mental agony endured by them was severe beyond the limits of expression. Fancy if you can the torture of royal soul scorning even the higher employments of men upon being clad in plebean dress paraded through the public streets under the eye and direction of the lieutenant of this malignant wretch the chief of police and forced to the most degrading and menial service—and all this amidst the rigors of winter. All suffered and many submitted but in instances it required severer effort than case-softened nature could bear keener torture than lofty minded innocence could endure and so the dark cells of the establishment became the abode of independent men who preferred rather to die than to do. Every villainous resource of punishment was tried without effect upon these noble resisters and it seemed that the cause of oppressed innocence had prevailed over the cruel and merciless minions of persecution. But now in this happy hour of triumph, comes forward the mayor of the city and violating the just principles which have heretofore ruled his life and which in the past have made honored his name which must for this deed be forever hereafter spoken in reproach and suggests another diabolical scheme for the suppression of liberty and happiness. He proposes that those noble minded persons who from physical and mental delicacy which his gross nature is incapable of undertaking or appreciating, suffer the torments of confinement in a dark cell with the various other terrors of the place rather than face the frowns and jeers of an unsympathetic world be clad in convict garb, weighted with ball and chain and placed in a public street under guard there to endure the scorn and contempt of mankind. It is to be hoped that this atrocious proposal will meet with the public condemnation which its demerits deserve. However, the immediate result if unfavorable, cannot long obtain as eternal justice will, in the end triumph.

DEATH OF WM. M. EVANS

At 2 P M yesterday at his residence in this city, after a brief illness of pneumonia and a complication of kindred diseases William M. Evans departed this life. He was born in 1852 in Floyd county, Virginia, where his aged mother and a sister now reside. His oldest brother, Robley D. Evans, is a commander in the United States navy. Another brother resides in Union City, Tennessee and is one of the most prominent physicians in that state, having been president of the State Medical Society.

Mr. Evans graduated at Emerson Institute in June, 1869. Speaking of the commencement exercises the Washington Express of June 25, 1869, said: "Master W. M. Evans, of Virginia, delivered the salutatory address—an original composition of much merit, replete with flowing eloquence and delivered in a style which, if cultivated promises to the country another orator, who will be noted as such."

About a year ago he came to this city to engage in the practice of his profession—the law—and formed a copartnership with C. A. Ball, Esq. Modest industrious, of a genial disposition generous and high minded he made friends of all his acquaintances, was laying the foundation of an extensive and lucrative practice and was looked upon by those who knew him best as destined to take a leading part in the affairs of his adopted state.

Death came to him so suddenly that he could scarcely realize that he must die. When told by his physician Dr. Wells, an old friend of his childhood, that he could not live he replied, "Doctor, you should not talk so to me. I cannot die and leave my dear wife and children. I will stay with it." But the grim messenger was inexorable, and the beloved wife is a widow and the children fatherless. Truly we are reminded of the truth of what was long ago beautifully said, "The king of terrors loves a shining mark and against such how often do his most fatal arrows hurtle."

Mr. Evans was a member of Industry Lodge, A. O. U. W., and his widow will receive from that order $2000 life insurance. It was the request of the deceased that his body be taken to his old home in Virginia for interment. His relatives have been telegraphed to, but no answer was received on account of the prostration of the wires.

The members of the Portland bar will meet at half past nine o'clock this morning at the office of Dolph Bronaugh Dolph and Simon to take action upon the death of Mr. Evans.

Industry Lodge No. 8 A. O. U. W., will meet at their hall at noon to day to make arrangements for the funeral.

COMMON COUNCIL

[illegible] MEETING [illegible] 1880

A regular meeting of the common council was held last evening at the chamber at [illegible] o'clock.

[illegible] H[illegible] Mayor Thompson in the chair [illegible] auditor and clerk and Chief [illegible] in attendance.

The following members were present: [illegible] Keller Nickli[illegible] Payne [illegible] Stitte Watson Weber.

The minutes of the previous meeting read and approved.

TO A [illegible] DISBURSEMENTS

General fund	$ [illegible]
Fire department fund	85 [illegible]
Police fund	[illegible]
Street lamp fund	107 3 [illegible]
Interest on bonds	[illegible]
Street improvement fund	41 985 53
Street extension fund	6 428 [illegible]
Street sewer fund	1 61 [illegible]
Total disbursement	$15 [illegible]
Amount in treasury Jan 1 1880	$ 14 160 [illegible]
Collected from licenses	[illegible]
Fines and fees in police court	8 145 45
Total	$ 1[illegible]

The remainder $141 708 [illegible] of revenue was derived from taxes and from property owners for street and sewer assessments on the line of streets where such improvements have been made.

The assessment books as returned by the city assessor shows the value of the taxable property for the year 1880 as follows:

Value of lands	$ 102 [illegible] 00
Value of lots	4 056 025 00
Improvements	615 050 00
Personal property	5 336 000 00
Gross value of all property	$13,143 125 00
In Indebtedness	3,401 300 00
Total taxable property	$9 841 525 00
A tax of five mills on $9 841 525 will yield a revenue of	$ 49 [illegible] 62
Estimated receipts from licenses	[illegible] 00
Fines and fees from police court (estimated)	9 000 00
Total	$92 [illegible] 62
Amount on hand available for general purposes	4 990 37
Estimated total amount available	$97 007 99

As there are no extraordinary expenses contemplated by the city I believe the sum of $9[illegible] 027 99 to be sufficient, with economical management (which should prevail in every department) for the support of the city government for the year 1880.

INDEBTEDNESS

Bonds payable in May 1881	$ [illegible] 000 00
Bonds payable in May 1883	[illegible] 000 00
Total amount of bonded debt	$[illegible] 000 00

These bonds draw interest at the rate of ten per cent. per annum which is payable semi annually. A large portion of this bonded debt will become due in one year from next May. I have no doubt this debt can be refunded at a much lower rate of interest than is now paid by the city, and, from the fact that the wealth of the city is rapidly increasing I think it would not be good policy to increase the taxation for the purpose of meeting this debt but to refund the same when it becomes due.

AMENDMENTS TO THE CITY CHARTER

The state legislature will meet in September of this year. There are a number of amendments that should be made, which will materially reduce the expenses of the city. These amendments should be discussed and put in tangible shape before the meeting of the legislature for presentation to that body.

WORKING PRISONERS

For the past three months the prisoners who have been sentenced by the police judge to pay fines or be kept at hard labor has been enforced as well as the same can be under the present ordinance. The assistant superintendent of streets has been commissioned by the police commissioners to take charge of all prisoners confined in the city jail under sentence and to work them on the streets but there is a large number of prisoners who refuse to work and prefer to occupy a dark cell and live on bread and water during the time of their sentence rather than to work on the streets. A large number of this class occupy a cell a great portion of their time. They serve out their sentence and are liberated in the morning and are again arrested and lodged in jail before night. A large majority of this class do not belong here. They drift here from the interior and from California in the fall and expect free lodgings and board from the city during the winter. They belong to the vagrant class and should be punished with severity. The ordinance should be amended and a ball and chain be authorized to be put on them and they be placed on the streets with hoe or shovel and required to stay there during the working hours of the day during the term of their sentence and at night be returned to the dark cell and fed on bread and water until they will work as sentenced. In my opinion the passage of such an ordinance will rid the city of a large number of this class of criminals and largely reduce the expenses of the city—in the prosecution and keeping of this class.

WORKING CHINESE ON THE STREETS

The act of the last legislature forbidding the working of Chinese on the streets of the city has been enforced and the said act declared constitutional by the circuit judge for this judicial district. Since the act has taken effect, no Chinese have been employed, and a large number of white persons have found employment where Chinese had formerly been employed.

FIRE DEPARTMENT

The fire department still maintains its high standard of efficiency. There have been no extensive fires during the year. Owing however to the rapid growth of the city there is legislation needed for this department. It is a necessity that horses should be provided for at least two of the fire companies to haul the engines. The volunteer firemen have always responded with alacrity when called on at all hours of the day or night, but as it requires time after the alarm is sounded for enough of the firemen to reach the engine houses to haul the engines to the scene of the fire and after they do reach the fire they are exhausted from hard work hauling the engines over the rough and muddy streets and not able to do the hard work required of them, for which they receive no compensation. The horses should be kept ready for service at a moment's notice the engines could then be placed on the ground where their services were required by the time the firemen could reach them ready for work.

There appears to be a great difference in the amount of repairs required by the different fire companies. Some of the companies require but little expenditures made for them while others require heavy expenditures for repairs to engines. I would recommend to the committee on fire and water that they consult with the chief engineer of the fire department and the foremen of the different companies and try and ascertain the cause of the difference and remedy the same if it can be done. If it is from a difference in the style of engines that requires so much expenditures for repairs we should know which style is preferable and in the purchase of engines and equipments in the future by the city the best and most economical should be purchased.

IMPROVEMENTS OF STREETS

There was during the year 1879 expended for street improvements the sum of $141,881 64. A large portion of this amount was paid for macadam. The past year has demonstrated the fact that this character of street will not answer where there is a large amount of heavy travel say east of Fourth street and between G and Jefferson streets. One year wears out the best macadam that has been made here and something more durable must be devised either return to the Nicolson pavement (which will last about four years) which makes a fine street and is not expensive or adopt the Belgian block pavement which is costly but is lasting is noisy but is easily kept clean and has been generally adopted by San Francisco and other cities for the improvement of streets on which there is a large amount of heavy travel. West of Fourth street north of G and south of Jefferson the macadam such as has been in use the past year is the best and cheapest that can be used. The ordinance however should be amended so as to require the top layer of stone to be broken smaller than is now used and on top of the first layer of stone a layer of coarse sand or fine river gravel should be placed and then thoroughly rolled with a heavy roller. This will secure a good street where there is but little heavy travel. There will undoubtedly be a large increase in the amount of street improvement this year. I think it safe to assume that there will not be less than [illegible] expended in street improvement in 1880.

OBSTRUCTION [illegible] STREETS

I have repeatedly called attention to the [illegible] of persons [illegible] the [illegible] streets [illegible] machines [illegible] heavy machinery [illegible]. The superintendent [illegible] a large portion [illegible] violation of [illegible]

[illegible]

The city park [illegible] as [illegible] pense still remains unimproved. I have heretofore called your attention to the necessity of having a plan [illegible] for carrying out the original plans of the city authorities when the purchase was made.

The condition of the city park blocks is a disgrace to the city. Nothing has been done to improve these blocks for years. They are allowed to grow up in grass and weeds. The trees and shrubs [illegible] decay and neglect.

I would suggest to you that a sufficient sum be appropriated to enable the committee on streets and public property to have the park blocks properly improved.

CITY PROPERTY

In my opinion no property of the city should be leased for any purpose. [illegible] and the city must [illegible] all the lots and blocks now owned by the corporation.

[illegible]

Sometime [illegible] that an arrangement might be made with the O. S. N. [illegible] [illegible] a large [illegible] the [illegible] already [illegible] I am of the opinion that an arrangement can be made for placing a pump [illegible] at a comparatively small [illegible] attention [illegible].

STREET RAILROAD

I wish to call the attention of the council to the condition of the First street railroad. Complaints are made to me almost daily in regard to the bad [illegible] of the crossings and the number of accidents to wagons and carriages in crossing it owing to the bad condition in which it is kept. The ordinance under which it was constructed was a very liberal one. It cost nothing, not a dollar was required to be paid into the city treasury for the valuable franchise given to the company by the city. It was simply required that the road should be constructed of the most improved street railroad iron and be so constructed as to cause the least obstruction to travel and to be kept in good repair. I think all citizens of Portland will agree with me that not one requirement of the ordinance has been complied with notwithstanding the liberal terms under which the company obtained the franchise. I suggest that steps be taken to compel the Street Railroad Company to comply with the terms of the ordinance granting the franchise to them.

I have to thank you, gentlemen of the common council for the faithful and efficient manner you have discharged the duties which have devolved upon you, and especially to the members of the committees on streets and public property, committee on fire and water and health and police. The members of these committees are necessarily required to devote a portion of time to the duties of these committees, all of which is given, without compensation for the benefit of the city.

I am under many obligations to the various city officers for the prompt and efficient manner they have discharged their duties and more especially the auditor and clerk with whom I am in daily communication in relation to city affairs and who has always been anxious and willing to furnish me all information asked for and which was in his power to give. Respectfully submitted,

D. P. THOMPSON, Mayor

On motion the communication was referred to the several appropriate committees.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

From Joseph Knott remonstrating against the proposed construction of a sewer along Jefferson street, between Front street and the Willamette river opposite block 163 of which he is owner referred to the committee on streets.

From Thomas Huntington and others asking to have a portion of Columbia street improved referred to the committee on streets.

From L. J. Christie asking to have the three trees removed which stand on the east side of Third street between Alder and Washington referred to the committee on streets.

From W. T. Webber making a proposition to furnish a plan for the improvement of the city park for the sum of $700 referred to the committee on streets.

From P. J. Martin and others remonstrating against the proposed improvement of H street between Fourth and North Nineteenth referred to the committee on streets.

From C. H. Lewis and others, asking to have appointed a regular police officer to patrol the northwestern portion of the city referred to the committee on health and police.

From Mary C. Rodgers and others asking to have a street lamp erected at the corner of Eleventh and Taylor streets referred to the committee on streets.

REPORTS

The following report was read from the committee on ways and means and adopted:

To the Honorable the Common Council of the City of Portland: GENTLEMEN—Your committee on ways and means would beg to report that we have had under consideration the several applications for correction of assessments on the city assessment roll for 1880 and have made the following reductions on account of indebtedness:

P Holbrook allowed additional	$ 700
C Holman	4000
Esther C Hall	800
Mrs Alvina Smith	500
H H Gilfry	1000
Isabella Beveridge	2100
J H Fisk	1600
R W Morris	2000

A. Goodnough was allowed a reduction of $200 on assessment for improvements lot 7 block 12 Couch's addition.

Walter Bros were allowed a reduction of $4,000 on assessment for stock of merchandise.

The application of M. Conley for a reduction of assessment on real estate and improvements was disallowed.

Also the application of A. H. Johnson for an allowance of indebtedness was disallowed.

The application of the Oregon and Washington Mortgage Savings Bank for a reduction of $10 300 on their assessment (and offering to pay taxes ex gratia on assessment of $100 000) was disallowed.

We would also call the attention of the council to the fact that we have made the following additional assessments furnished us by Rev. E. W. Morris:

M B Rodney	$ 2000
Lydia Rodney	17 0
C Rodney	1050
B W Morris	9050
H R Morris	1750
R W Morris	6500
	$22000

The application of Fleischner and Hirsch for an allowance of $20 000 indebtedness was allowed.

We herewith present a resolution adopting the roll as revised and corrected and recommend its adoption.

JOSEPH SIMON,
J. S. KELLER,
Committee

The report of the committee on fire and water in relation to the purchase of a Hayes truck was read and adopted.

To the Honorable the Common Council: GENTLEMEN—In obedience to the resolution adopted by the council at the last meeting we directed Chief Engineer Morgan to communicate with David Scannell chief engineer of the San Francisco fire department and with D. L. Hayes in regard to the Hayes truck which your committee were authorized to purchase. Communications have been received from both the above-named gentlemen which accompany this report. It will be seen from the letter of Mr. Scannell that the Hayes truck stands high in his estimation and from the letter of Mr. Hayes it will be seen that he cannot furnish the truck at a less cost than the amount specified in the ordinance authorizing the purchase. In view of these facts we would ask that we be authorized to proceed with our negotiations.

On motion the council adjourned until next Monday evening at 7 o'clock.

ROUGH WEATHER.

Heavy Wind and Rain Storm Yesterday—The Willamette Still Rising.

About 9 o'clock yesterday morning a strong wind sprung up from the south and by [illegible] o'clock had almost increased to a hurricane. For fifteen minutes the wind blew at the rate of thirty eight to forty miles an hour and while it made signs flutter windows rattle flag staffs bend and succeeded in frightening every one, no great damage was done.

For several minutes the Willamette as far as the eye could reach presented a grandly novel sight. The wind as it came down stream struck the rough waves and lifting the water in solid sheets scattered it again in the form of spray. To one looking from an eminence it seemed as though a terrible snow storm was raging only on the river while on both banks there was slight rain.

[illegible] of the new [illegible] church in [illegible] Portland was lifted from the brick [illegible] and [illegible] to the ground. It can probably be placed in position again with [illegible] expense.

About 9 o'clock a large boom of logs belonging to the Willamette Lumbering and Manufacturing Co. not to Smith Bros as reported in the afternoon papers broke loose and was swept down the rapid current. It was pursued and overtaken by the new O. & C. ferry and the Okklahama and it is understood was secured and fastened in an eddy a few miles down the river.

The raft of logs collided with the pontoon of the O. & C. R. R. on the east side and carried it away. The loss of the pontoon prevented the landing of the ferry, and passengers and baggage were transferred at the Stark street ferry. The pontoon has been recovered and will be placed in position to day.

The Willamette continues to rise and is within a foot of the lower docks. The rainfall yesterday was light as compared with the four preceding days, and unless to day will bring another heavy rain the flood has probably reached its maximum.

The barn of R. L. Riley, corner of Twelfth and Columbia was demolished with a loud crash—damage slight.

A large cottonwood tree on Third street near Alder was blown down. Numerous trees and fences in various parts of the city were prostrated and many signs removed from their fastenings and scattered in every direction.

Wm Ramsey's new carpenter shop corner Fourth and D which was built on light piles was blown northward about 18 inches, against the dwelling. It would have been [illegible] if it had stood isolated.

THE DEATH-RATE OF

Our country is getting to be fearfully alarming, the average of life being lessened every year without any reasonable cause, death resulting generally from the most insignificant origin. At this season of the year especially a cold is such a common thing that in the hurry of every day life we are apt to overlook the dangers attending it, and often find too late that a Fever or Lung trouble has set in. Thousands lose their lives in this way every winter while had Boschee's German Syrup been taken a cure would have resulted and a large bill from a doctor been avoided. For all diseases of the Throat and Lungs Boschee's German Syrup has proven itself to be the greatest discovery of its kind in medicine. Every Druggist in this country will tell you of its wonderful effect. Over 950 000 bottles sold last year without a single failure known.

Forewarned Forearmed.

Physicians and invalids use with confidence The Kaiser Celebrated German Elixir for Consumption and throat and lung diseases. It is rich in the medical properties of tar, wild cherry etc. Is entirely perfectly harmless to the youngest child. This would have proved an Angel of Mercy in the household of those unhappy parents at Vallejo, Dixon, Beaver, [illegible] and numerous other places whose children were slaughtered by quack medicine recommended by its owner to cure croup possessing no property calculated to cure it, but in stead a deadly drug which has slain its thousands. Be sure you get only German Elixir. The genuine bears the Prussian coat of arms and the fac simile signature of Dr. K[illegible]. Samples at all drug stores. Large size 75 cents.

Quinine and Arsenic.

Form the basis of many of the Ague remedies in the market, and are the last resort of physicians and people who know no better medicine to employ for this distressing complaint. The effects of either of these drugs are destructive to the system producing headache intestinal disorders vertigo dizziness ringing in the ears, and depression of the constitutional health. AYER'S AGUE CURE is a vegetable discovery containing neither quinine arsenic nor any deleterious ingredient and is an infallible and rapid cure for every form of Fever and Ague. Its effects are permanent and certain and no injury can result from its use. Besides being a positive cure for Fever and Ague in all its forms it is a superior remedy for Liver Complaints. It is an excellent tonic and preventive as well as cure of all complaints peculiar to malarious marshy and miasmatic districts. By direct action on the liver and biliary apparatus it stimulates the system to a vigorous healthy condition. For sale by all dealers. Hodge Davis & Co. wholesale agents Portland.

SANITARY VACUUM DISTILLED GRAPE BRANDY AND GOOD OLD EDGE HILL WINES

Mr. Scheffler is sole proprietor of the principle known as the vacuum process of distilling by which the fusil oils are left with the residue and not incorporated with the brandy leaving it pure and free from all deleterious substances which does and must exist in all alcoholic liquors distilled by the usual process of boiling heat. California Physicians have pronounced their preference of it to all other. Doctor Cox government revenue officer at Cincinnati Ohio says in his report that after ten years of close investigation he can safely say that very few if any pure wines or brandy are exported from the Old Continent to this. He has found none in his many analyses—that all are doctored before leaving France. The French Consul at Buenos Ayres writes home to his government that so much complaint is made there of the appearance of litharge and other dangerous drugs in all their French wines that there is great danger of losing the trade of the Argentine States. Other proofs could be cited were it necessary to prove the superiority of the best class of California wines and brandy. Orders from responsible parties, addressed to Wm. Scheffler or Geo. H. Beach St. Helena, Napa county Cal. will receive prompt attention.

SPOOL COTTON.
ESTABLISHED 1812.
CLARK'S O.N.T. SPOOL COTTON
TRADE MARK
GEORGE A. CLARK,
SOLE AGENT.

The distinctive features of this spool cotton are that it is made from the very finest

SEA ISLAND COTTON.

It is finished soft as the cotton from which it is made; it has no waxing or artificial finish to deceive the eye; it is the strongest, smoothest and most elastic sewing thread in the market; for machine sewing it has no equal; it is wound on

WHITE SPOOLS.

The Black is the most perfect

JET BLACK

Ever produced, in spool cotton, being dyed by a system patented by ourselves. The colors are dyed by the

NEW ANILINE PROCESS,

Rendering them so perfect and brilliant that dressmakers everywhere use them instead of sewing silks.

We invite comparison and respectfully ask ladies to give it a fair trial and convince themselves of its superiority over all others.

To be had at all retail dealers in dry goods and notions.

THURSDAY MORNING JAN 8 1880

A NEW YEAR'S CALL

Maxwelton's braes are bonnie
  Where early fa's the dew
And 'twas there that Annie Laurie
  Gave me her promise true
  Gave me her promise true
Which ne'er forgot will be
  And for bonnie Annie Laurie
I'd lay me down and dee

It was my favorite song I looked up from the desk where I was writing as the fresh young voice rang loud and clear on the summer air and drawing the window-curtains a little aside, peeped out at a young girl in my neighbor's garden

A young girl as pretty as blooming as pure looking as the delicate white roses blushing faintly in unconsciousness of their beauty—that had stolen from their own trellis to climb the grape arbor by the side of which to pluck the fairest and sweetest for a moment she singing stood

Then for another moment or two she flitted hither and thither among the other flowers the sun making gold of her flowing hair until some one called "Millicent" from the house and trilling the last line again "I'll lay me down and dee" like a meadow-lark she vanished from my sight

My neighbor didn't know I was his neighbor though I was perfectly aware he was my neighbor

I will explain The cottage in Appleland of which I was occupying the second floor belonged to an old friend of mine who had gone abroad Knowing that I was anxious to secure a secluded country home for a month or two of the summer so that I might finish and revise—well no matter what, but a work I flatter myself, of some importance he had kindly offered me the use of the rooms as long as I chose to remain

Entire seclusion was my object in going to my friend's cottage and that was thoroughly understood by the old housekeeper, who never made her appearance excepting at meal time, and who had mentioned my arrival to no one in the neighborhood

After dark I used to let myself out at a side gate effectually screened from view by a group of grand old apple trees, and stroll about for an hour or two and then let myself in again without any one being the wiser

Not a difficult proceeding however I must admit, as my neighbor's house and my friend's house were about half a mile from the village on one side with about two miles of dense woodland on the other

They had originally been built for twin sisters, who, marrying, refused to be utterly separated from each other so only a low fence divided the front lawns and back gardens

My neighbor, as I had discovered by peeping at him on sundry occasions, was an elderly stout gentleman with keen dark eyes shaggy eyebrows decidedly florid complexion, stubby nose, stubby beard, stubby hands and a projecting chin and upper lip. His household consisted of his wife, a motherly looking old lady, as stout as himself, a cook as stout as her mistress a coachman and gardener as stout as the cook, a rough coated awkward dog, answering to the name of Bub, and a shaggy pony called Sis

Well, here I had been domiciled for two weeks, writing away as for dear life—as totally lost to the world as though I had never existed, until the morning when I heard the meadow lark singing "Annie Laurie."

Who could she be? She didn't resemble my neighbor or my neighbor's wife in the least I resolved to find out, if possible, and so the next morning I said, carelessly, to the old housekeeper, when she brought up my toast and coffee, "Have the elderly couple next door any children?"

"No, sir," was the reply, "not a chick or child—which I don't mean they haven't chickens, sir, for they have, only as the saying is—never have had, and never will have, I suppose, at their time of life, unless by a miracle, though they're awful fond of 'em. Seems to me as folks that are awful fond of young ones never has 'em; p'r'aps that's the reason they're so fond of 'em, not knowing what a worry and care they are falling into ponds, and out of trees and down stairs, and getting the cholera-morbus with eating unripe fruit——"

"And the young lady," I interrupted dipping a crust into my coffee and nodding toward my neighbor's garden, "whom I heard singing yesterday was——"

"Their niece, sir, and is to have all the money when she comes of age if she don't displease her uncle. You see, sir, Miss Millicent's mother lived next door, and her aunt, her mother's twin sister, lived here They were the lovingest sisters you ever knew and died within a few days of each other one leaving a daughter, Miss Millie, and the other a son, Mr Chester and Mr Gardner now our neighbor was their eldest brother, though he looked no more like them than you do and he's the guardian, and Miss Millicent's to marry her cousin, and he's expected here on a visit this very day"

I couldn't tell for the life of me why I spill my coffee on the snowy-white tablecloth and choke myself with the last fragment of toast, but I do, and the old woman hastens to my side and thumps me upon the back with all the force of which she is capable, and says, reproachfully, "Good gracious, sir! You turned quite black in the face. Don't do it again, sir, for what a dreadful thing 'twould be to have you dead in the house and everything been so mysterious, and me, p'r'aps, accused of the murder." With which pleasing remark she hurries away to answer a ring at the front door bell, and then returns to tell me as she removes the dishes, that the cousin has come. The driver made a mistake and stopped at our door instead of Mr Gardner's And a very nice appearing young man he is, too—one of those men who look as though they would make good husbands and excellent providers, and she glances askance at my papers, pens and ink, for as I had already discovered the worthy old soul shared Emerson's opinions on the subject, and gravely doubted the capability of writers and artists and people of their sort in regard to their taking care of themselves, and had no doubt at all as to their utter incapability of taking care of any one else

Breakfast over I went to work again—that is, I tried to go to work, but my efforts were in vain "Annie Laurie" kept running in my head, and I jumbled my historical facts and the words of the sweet Scotch song together in such wild confusion that at last I gave up in despair, and pushing my writing materials away, I determined to refresh my eyes and brain by taking a look at my neighbor's beautiful garden.

As I peeped between the blinds Bub came tearing out like mad, ran around the grape arbor three times snapped at a grasshopper, jumped over the low fence into the meadow made some communication to Sis who was grazing there, and got back in time to meet the two people who came sauntering up the walk

Millicent and the cousin a tall, slim, passably good looking young fellow with his hair carefully parted in the middle, a blue necktie and a faultless summer suit.

I glanced in the mirror at my own obstinate curly brown crop that refused to be parted anywhere, my cravatted neck and my well-worn blue flannel, and I began to hate him Millicent walked beside him her fair head drooping and a smile upon her lips. She was dressed in white and had a pink rose clinging to her curls and one in her bosom and a bunch of half-opened buds at her belt, and she plucked another from the vine and fastened it with her own pretty hands into the button-hole of her cousin's immaculate coat.

From that moment I hated him and from that moment my work ceased to progress, and I took to walking up and down my rooms in the daytime and strolling about the garden half the night

In a few days—they seemed like months to me—"Mr Chester," as the housekeeper called him went away again

I blessed the driver the horses the very carriage that took him back to town, for I—you have guessed it, I suppose—was wildly in love with my neighbor's fair haired niece!

Well, one night I was swinging in the hammock that hung in the midst of the group of old apple trees swinging and thinking of her when I gradually ceased swinging and thinking and wandered into the land of dreams, And a voice a sweet familiar voice followed me there and I heard it say "But auntie, I do not love my cousin and should a woman marry a man she does not love"

"No! by heavens! No!" I shouted, springing from the hammock still half asleep

Two shrieks a scampering a loud bark and my neighbor's garden was deserted

Early the next morning I heard Mr Gardner loudly and angrily questioning the meek old housekeeper

"Wished to remain in hiding did he?" he shouted—"oh so as to write on his tablet! And then sarcastically "A very pretty story but slightly improbable, and a very pretty young man listening—the spy—to the conversation of two ladies and rudely joining in with a voice like thunder scaring them nearly out of their senses Where is he this retiring young fellow—this exclusive author By heaven if he do not come out to me I will go in to him"

I rushed down stairs and confronted him at his own gate my eyes flashing and my voice trembling with passion

"I am no listener no spy" I said "I was sleeping in my hammock and was suddenly awakened by a very emphatic question. Annie Lau—that is Mil—I mean your niece as either companion In the confusion of the moment I answered the question as emphatically as it was asked If I have frightened and offended the young lady I humbly ask her pardon but I warn you sir to call me no more opprobrious names

Millicent came out on the porch and glanced at me shyly "He doesn't look very wicked uncle" she said in a low voice with a gleam of mischief in her eyes "and I firmly believe what he says and freely forgive him for the fright he gave me"

I bowed and turned away and a moment after I heard a rippling laugh and then in a few moments more the verse of the song she had sung when first she gladdened my tired eyes

Maxwelton's braes are bonnie
  Where early fa's the dew
And it was there that Annie Laurie
  Gave me her promise true
  Gave me her promise true
Which ne'er forgot will be
  And for bonnie Annie Laurie
I'd lay me down and dee

After that I boldly threw open the window blinds and smiled down upon her and she smiled up at me Then I asked her for a rose over the fence one day and she gave it to me Then we met in the meadow and discoursed of the manifold virtues of Bub and Sis The one blessed August afternoon (set in my memory like a great pure pearl—it was just after a shower and the earth wore one broad smile of sunshine and the birds sang as though they would burst their slender throats) she came to the meadow gate—a spray of honeysuckles in her bosom—and I said "I love you—and you"

"Why" she answered dropping the long lashes over her beautiful eyes and speaking with sweet hesitation "I love—you"

I kissed her pretty mouth "My darling," I said, "you have been my darling ever since that bright June morning I heard you singing 'Annie Laurie' to the roses"

"And you mine" she replied looking in my face with bewitching saucy frankness "ever since the morning you flew out as though shot from a cannon—your eyes flashing, and your hair in the wildest disorder with no collar let alone a cravat on and defied my uncle I thought you simply delicious—so different from any one I had ever seen before—so very unlike my cousin But Elmer" and a shade stole over her bright face "uncle will never consent to—to——"

"Our marriage my dearest?"

"Yes to our marriage, for he has set his heart on my marrying Chester and he's my guardian and I'm only nineteen

"Only be true to me Millicent" I interrupted "and I'll wait for you patiently faithfully —only say that you promise"

"Ne'er forgot will be" sang she

"And" I took up the song "for bonnie Annie Laurie I'd lay me—" but stopped suddenly

Uncle Gardner his shaggy eyebrows bent in an ominous frown stood before us He had returned from business much earlier than usual that afternoon and that blundering Bub had brought him to us and stood there wagging his heavy tail as though he had done the most friendly thing in the world

The next morning before I had ceased dreaming about her my Millicent had been spirited away

And in a week's time what a long wretched dreary week it was— had left Appleland and was once more installed in my little den in the attic of a great lodging house in the noisy city And to keep the sorrow from breaking my heart I worked like a fiend and the book to which I have referred before came out and reached the third edition and I came down from the attic to the second floor front and doffed my flannel suit for something more seasonable

Autumn passed away and winter came and spring followed and summer brought her roses, and then came autumn again, and in turn retired for the months of cold and snow and every day hope grew less and less bright for I had not heard one word of my lost darling

The second New Year's Day since our separation dawned bright and cold and as I came up gasping from the basin of icy water into which I had plunged my head Dick Van Cleve danced in from the next room in extreme dishabille, vaulted over a chair or two tossed my shaving mug in the air, and caught it cleverly and then asked

"Going to make calls?"

"Make calls?" repeated I, contemptuously "Did you ever know me to do such a silly thing"

"Oh, I don't mean the regular business" said he, "only a friendly drop-in on some of our fellow women writers. There's that little Clark girl she'd be delighted to see you—thought you looked vastly entertaining—more than I did—and she's a poor young thing and very lonely needs cheerful companionship They say she lost her lover a year or so ago—went abroad and never came back again

"I'll go" said I

"That's a good fellow and we'll take her something nice to eat by way of a New Year's gift. Don't believe she gets anything nice in that dingy old boarding house" and Dick pirouetted out again to complete his toilet

An hour found us crossing —— avenue on our way to the old-fashioned street where dwelt the little Clark girl, where pausing a moment to give a cent or two to a poor child who had just left the basement of a handsome brownstone mansion, a voice rang out from the drawing room above that sent all the blood madly leaping through my veins

Maxwelton's braes are bonnie
  Where early fa's the dew
And 'twas there that Annie Laurie
  Gave me her promise true
  Gave me her promise true,
Which ne'er forgot will be
  And for bonnie Annie Laurie
I'd lay me down and dee

I grasped my friend's arm and held him until the last note died away "I have a call to make here" I said then

"By Jove!" he exclaimed "are you sure? This is no end of swell."

I ascended the steps walked without a word past the colored servant who opened the door straight into the parlor

She had just risen from the piano, and with a cry of joy she flew to my arms

The uncle, the aunt, the cousin were there "Dear uncle," she said turning her lovely face toward him while my arms still enfolded her, "release me from my promise I beg you I have tried to wait patiently but he has found me and we love each other and come what may will never never be parted again Wish us a happy New Year Dear aunt dear cousin speak for us

"God bless me!" said the uncle

"Ours was a love-match Robert" whispered the old lady

"I hope you may be very happy, Millicent" said the cousin

"God bless me!" repeated Uncle Gardner again "and God bless you my dear and the young man too for that matter although he has interfered so seriously with my cherished plans But if you've fully made up your minds not to part again come what may why there's no more to be said except that I wish you both a happy New Year

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases or pressure, sometimes the pain is in the left side, the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side, sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part There is generally a considerable loss of memory accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done A slight dry cough is sometimes an attendant The patient complains of weariness and debility he is easily startled his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin his spirits are low, and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it In fact he distrusts every remedy Several of the above symptoms attend the disease but cases have occurred where few of them existed yet examination of the body, after death has shown the liver to have been extensively deranged
